

ZELLIGE

Nestled into a hillside on the outskirts of Fes, Morocco is a small cluster of factories producing tile as they have for 500-years. When you turn your back to Fes and descend down into the region, you are instantly struck by 2-things: the beauty of the wheat-colored countryside and which factories are firing that day, for the plumes of smoke coming from the small beehive kilns are obvious. And, so it continues for dozens of generations of maalems.

We have developed our zellige program in situ to offer clients both an in-stock and bespoke program. In addition to our standard offering, we can re-color any pattern as required. This product is suitable for commercial and residential applications – both inside and out – and it guarantees to make a bold impression for generations to come.
